Twin Cities Ancient Coin Club Meeting Notice

April 23rd, 2015. Vol. 55, Number 4

Presentation:

The Appearance of Famous Statues on Greek Coins

Bob Stumm

Bob will discuss the use of four famous statues of antiquity (including three works of Phidias) as designs on Greek coins. In some cases these statues were copied nearly exactly; in other cases there are distinct differences. Come hear how celators translated these works of art into a portable format.

A note from John Haer:

Jon Buck has decided to de-acquisition most of his collection, and wants the club members to have first look. I have spent many hours sorting, searching and listing the coins, and this is what I have put together for sale.

Starting with the "pick" lots, there are choices for $1, $2, $5 and $10 (per coin). Many bargains here, so bring small bills. You will note that none of these coins are marked with a price, only the tray that they are in. I ask that you please keep track of your total, so maybe you could write down how many of what you have.

There are also nearly 100 coins in flips, attributed but not referenced, ranging from $15 - $175, but with an average price around $45 - $55. Many are very nice, and some are hard to find.

The collection is primarily LRB, but examples can be found for greek, east asia, celtic, the roman republic and early empire. FYI there are also 10 coins of Carausius in all price ranges.

Jon said to price these to sell, so I have. You won't find any coins like these cheaper anywhere, so now is the time to pick up some real bargains. These coins will be available at around 7pm.
