TWIN CITIES ANCIENT COIN CLUB MEETING NOTICE

FOR THURSDAY, April 24, 2008 Vol. 48, Number 4

PRESENTATION: "The Cult of Asclepius and its' Depictions on Ancient Coins." by guest speaker John Eyler, PhD

Our speaker is currently History of Medicine Program Director and Director of Graduate Studies at the University of Minnesota. His broad interest is the intersection of scientific expertise and modern society, particularly aggregate problems of health and health care: the history of disease, the development of health policy, the evolution of social welfare, the changing nature of hospitals, the history of public health and preventive medicine, and the history of epidemiology. Modern Britain and America are particular interests. He has published two books: Victorian Social Medicine: The Ideas and Methods of William Farr (Baltimore: Johns Hopkins Univ. Pr., 1979); and Sir Arthur Newsholme and State Medicine, 1885-1935 (New York: Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1997). His articles and book chapters deal with the history of epidemiology and public health, with poverty and disease, with nineteenth-century theories of disease, and with history of vital statistics.

If you have any coins with Asclepius or medical themes, please bring to pass around.
