TCACC MEETING NOTICE for Thursday, March 23, 2006
Volume 46, Number 3

PRESENTATION:

Jorg Lueke will present a fascinating subject: FROM ALLEGORY TO PORTRAITURE: MANKIND'S APPEARANCE ON COINAGE. The earliest coins depicted symbols of the state from lions to turtles to eagles. Coins also featured the deities of the day with much of the major pantheon depicted. No sovereigns depicted themselves on the earliest Greek coins. Through repeated military exchanges with the Persians this would soon change. This presentation will explore the beginnings of portraiture as well as its development into the Roman era by examining the coins of the issuing rulers.
